Holy Trinity Belle Vue

This week at HTBV

Today we continue our series called "Blessed to be a Blessing", and these amazing words about how the Lord might "bless us and keep us" in our lives. We hope each week serves as a reminder that God blessed those who don't deserve it, through those who don't deserve it. And we can share that blessing with many others in our daily lives.

Our speaker this week is Keith Moore.

Coming up Soon

Next Sunday (25th September) Paul Thomas, the Archdeacon of Salop, will be visiting.

Our next Messy Church is on Sunday 2nd October and we will need someone to coordinate breakfast for this. Please speak to Fi if you may be able to do this.

Many, many thanks...

to the amazing team who hosted the Macmillan Coffee Morning on Thursday. We raised almost £450 for this amazing charity. It was great to welcome so many people in.

The Royal Funeral

We continue to be thankful for the life of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

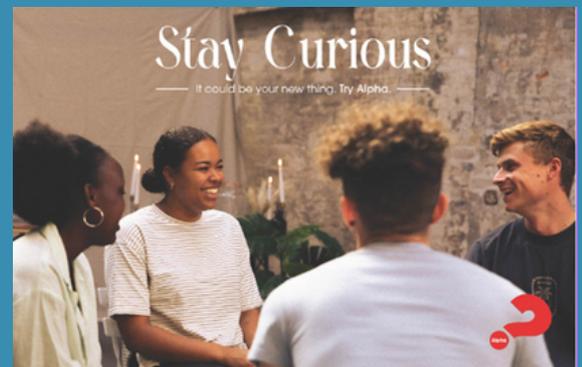

Meole Brace Church is going to be open on Monday for the Queen's funeral. You are welcome to join us if you would like to watch and take part in the service alongside other people. We'll be showing the service on our three big screens in the church, as well as making refreshments available.

All welcome from 10.15am.

Autumn Alpha Course

Many of us will be familiar with the Alpha Course. The next course starts on Wednesday 5th October, 7pm in the Trinity Centre Meole Brace. This is a really practical introduction to the Christian faith. Do you know someone who you might invite and bring with you? Or can you join the hospitality or prayer team, and put "faith into action"? Chat to Phil or Fi for more details, or go to www.trinitychurches.org/alpha
